Business Solutions Think Tank and Hackathon

14 -15 August 2015

The Business Solutions Think Tank and Hackathon is a collaborative dynamic forum that brings together persons of diverse experiences and expertise to produce functional IT applications (from concept, to working prototype, to final product) that address real world problems related to the OECS private and public sectors.

OBJECTIVES: The Business Solutions Think Tank and Hackathon will provide private and public sector with new or innovative strategies, ideas and applications solutions designed to address real world problems. Participants will learn new technology, showcase their talent and ultimately build new apps that help create solutions for private and public sector problems.

REGISTRATION: Registration is free. Persons who fit any of the following profiles are invited to register (IT college students, teachers and professionals; other professionals, business owners, business associations' representatives, and thought leaders) and be part of a team where participants develop a solution ("Solution") to one of the identified business challenges. Participants must complete this form to register for the forum.

PRIZES: You will be part of a team that has a chance to win attractive prizes and get acknowledged as a result of building a new application that can help to alleviate a private or public sector problem.
